Abstract

False Bay, South Africa. This idyllic location perched at the tip of the world may be the most dangerous place on the planet. Here lurks the most feared predator known to man . . . the Great White shark. No where else on Earth can you regularly witness 16 foot Great White sharks catapulting into the air while stalking and killing their prey. Get a sneak peak at a new documentary for National Geographic as you meet the unrivaled acrobats of the shark world and the kings of the deadliest place on earth in "The Kill Zone."
